(i) Road and Bridge Hazard Liability
Claims from $500,000 and up

Extended descriptions of Road Hazard claims over $2.5 million:

- ① These claims involve a bus crash on I-610 in Orleans Parish. The main thrust of the litigation by the plaintiff is against the Custom Bus Company and the driver, who has had a history of medical problems and drug abuse. They have named various businesses and individuals who had any connection with the bus company, including the manufacturer of the bus, the casino (where the bus was enroute to), and the person who organized the trip for the church group. The allegations against DOTD listed in the petition deal with an alleged inadequacy of the bridge approach guardrails. It has been determined that the guardrails functioned properly and were appropriate for the date of their construction. The plaintiffs have also alleged various highway design inadequacies which are tenuous at best. At this point, it appears that all claims against DOTD are defensible. Due to the number of litigants and defendants, these claims continue to move very slowly at this time.
